

THE IUAES 2021 YUCATAN CONGRESS: A VIOLENCE-FREE EVENT

The IUAES 2021 Yucatan Congress is an academic meeting that promotes respectful intellectual, scientific, and social exchanges among equals. For this reason, the Organizing Committee urges all participants to avoid all violent practices, expressions, and relationships during the Congress. This includes gender violence, violence against LGBTQ+ individuals, racism, discrimination, and any other form of behavior that affects the dignity, integrity, and security of individuals or collectives.

We view a violence-free event as a shared responsibility and exhort everyone to treat others with the respect they deserve, the same respect each and every one of us expects to be shown.

If you need to denounce a case of violence, please write to: iaesviolence@gmail.com

Kindly include a letter detailing the incident, supporting evidence, and signatures of colleagues with knowledge of the case.
